

Maria ALIAHH

ARTIST

Maria Aliahh is an emerging R&B artist from Brooklyn, New York, whose music transforms pain into power. Drawing from a life filled with hardship and resilience, Maria creates a sound that is both deeply soulful and timeless, blending the essence of old-school R&B with raw emotional honesty.

From a young age, music became Maria's sanctuary — a place where she could express the emotions words alone couldn't carry.

"When I was younger, I had a lot of hardship and one day I just started singing, and I never stopped because it made me feel good. It was like I was almost in a bubble and no one could pop it because that was my own safe space," she shares. "I realized there are people out there going through the same as me, so I wanted to make music to help them escape their reality too."

With her heartfelt lyrics and warm, nostalgic tone, Maria channels the spirit of classic R&B while offering a fresh, modern vulnerability. Her latest single, "Roller Coaster," captures the emotional highs and lows of life and love — a powerful introduction to her growing artistry.

Currently, Maria is working on her debut album, an intimate collection that delves even deeper into her story, while preparing a small EP to give listeners a taste of what's next. Through every note, she continues to prove that even in pain, there's beauty — and in music, there's healing.
